Who's the mystery man?

JDV son to reveal person's name in proper forum

By John Liming-Jefferson

A "MYSTERY MAN" IS PART of the cost of thousands behind the $329-million contract awarded to the Chinese telecommunications firm ZTE Corp. to build the National Broadband Network (NBN), the Inquirer has learned.

But businessman Jose "Joy" de Venecia III, one of the bidders, told the Inquirer he would reveal the person's identity only if asked in the proper legal forum.

De Venecia, co-owner of the losing project, prominent American Holdings Inc., is also a member of the Inquirer's board of directors. He was in the Philippines on Tuesday.

"That's a loaded question. I will answer that in the proper forum," he said in a phone interview the other day when asked about the person's identity.

De Venecia said the individual person was present during his meeting with Commission on Electronic Communications (Cenecom) Chairman Atty. Gen. Alfredo Lim at the Philippine Golf and Country Club resort here in Alibon.

He said he had not yet named the person in his meetings with the Inquirer. He refused to give them to the Inquirer as of Monday afternoon.

De Venecia said the person came to the "business dinner" arranged by Cenecom's Secretary General.

THE POWER TO LEAD

House bent on resetting village polls

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES appears bent on approving the bill seeking to postpone the barangay and Sanggunian Kabataan elections scheduled for Oct. 25.

Speaker Juan P. Arroyo yesterday said he expected the postponement of the village elections to be approved on Sept.

reopening the House tomorrow.

"With strong support from the House, the postponement of the barangay and Sanggunian Kabataan elections by two years is expected to be approved quickly and final reading on Monday," De Vries said.

The bill became the first measure approved in committee by the House in the 14th Congress after it was approved on second reading in plenary last week by Majority Rep. Teodoro Locsin Jr., chair of the committee on suffrage and elections.

The bill seeks to postpone the barangay elections from Oct. 25 to May 2009.

The fate of the measure will still depend on the Senate, however.

The elections will still push through if the Senate fails to act on the legislation.

"It will be up to the Senate to decide whether the polls should be postponed or not," House Minority Leader Arroyo said.

BREAKTHROUGH IN CANCER CURE...

You don't have to die of Cancer and other incurable diseases. Here are some of our Cancer Survivor testimonies.

If you are looking for a very potent, safe and effective cure for Cancer, THIS IS IT:

Boston C

READ LEO No. R018-R019-F-2007

Although it is still classified by the FDA as a Herbal Food Supplement, both biological testing and actual experience show that Boston C Herbal Extracts go very well beyond that.

In 2001 and 2003, the U.S. Institute of Biology conducted laboratory tests using Boston C herbal extracts in different dilutions on lung adenocarcinoma, colon carcinoma, jejunal cell lymphoma, bladder carcinoma; while a prominent Asia Biotechnology Laboratory tested it on lung and cervical cancer cells for presentation in the World Health Organization. The official results of this scientific laboratory tests clearly revealed and certified that even in its most diluted form, the Boston C Herbal extracts were still able to kill off more than half the population of cancer cells within 3-5 days, depending on the type of cancer.

Nena Delacruz, Stage 4 Breast, Liver, Ovary & Bone Cancer Survivor

"My illness two years ago was breast cancer Stage 3a, when I was operated on. After two years, it spread in my liver, ovary and bones. I could not stand anymore. At St. Luke Hospital, they said that they have to remove my ovary, undergo BR's for my liver, and later on chemotherapy. I did not have my liver tested. The following day, I decided to just take cystos 3 orally and by intravenously.

In six months, my liver was negative of cancer cells and my ovary was normal. Yes, there is no more illness in my bones because of Boston C Herbal Products and intravenous treatment.

Raul Cabangas Pancreatic and Liver Cancer Survivor

"I was born and raised in Texas, USA, and I am a retired military man. I was in the Marine Corps in Vietnam in January 1969. I went for an operation for gall stones, only to find out that I had cancer. I had ruptured cancerous tumors that spread through my body. When they told me I still have to take another one, I went to Duke University in the US and underwent chemotherapy to get well again. And they told me I was in both stages of pancreatic cancer and that there was no cure.

I underwent chemotherapy for eight months and the end result is that I became immune to chemotherapy. I read an article about the Philippines and about some patients who had been here and took Boston C. They said that the results were great and they told me about the good works that they had been doing here. Finally, it was on the positive side. I decided to take a chance and come here to the Philippines and undergo treatment.

On the first course of Boston C intravenous treatment, it seems like the result was positive for the most part. Not a hundred percent but there was quite a bit of improvement. I'm very glad about that. At least there was an improvement that wasn't before. My tumor, supposedly, according to the test, wasn't there anymore but I still have to take another one. They call it CT scan to make sure that the tumor is completely gone. I still get some metastases in the liver but it has been reduced about 80% in a matter of three days. I had been here in the Boston C Clinic since for three days and I followed the instructions they gave me. I drank the supplement they gave me and there was an improvement. Not a hundred percent but I show me improvement. I feel a little better and a little stronger and lost a little weight but I understood that because my appetite wasn't very good. By now, I'm gaining a little weight and I plan to come back for another treatment so I'm hoping that it will cure me completely. That is my hope.

Rodolfo Andaya Chronic Renal Failure survivor

"I am Rodolfo Andaya, from Surigao, Zamboanga, Pangasinan. Two years ago I was told I had kidney failure. My doctor said, 'This will require long-term treatment'. I was then told of the many options that I can choose from like major operation, kidney transplant which made me depressed then. I told myself that I was never going to get well. I felt pain in my stomach on many different occasions. I couldn't sleep. My weight really went down. Even my blood pressure went down. I then underwent dialysis for seven months and even had blood transfusions. My expenses were piling up and I felt that I couldn't hold any longer. Because of my predicament, I prayed all the time and everything to the Almighty above. Then a friend of mine visited me and advised me to take Boston C. I then started taking Boston C after each meal. I noticed thereafter that there were 'side' materials whenever I defecated. Now everything is normal including my situation. I still take Boston C because I think it will prevent any problems from recurring.

Melvin Napitan 4th Stage Lung Cancer

"Three years ago, I had a mass in my lung that was about the size of a golf ball. My doctor advised me to have a surgery done but I opted not to have that done because somebody told me about Boston C. I underwent IV therapy using Boston C for one week and then oral therapy for 6 months. Afterwards, I underwent CT scan. X-ray to find out if the mass is still there. All tests revealed negative with the help of Boston C."

Antonio Dorte Stage 4 Ovarian Cancer

"I am from Hongkong and I have been a cancer patient since the year 2000. They operated on my left ovary. They removed it along with my appendix. But I did not undergo chemotherapy, that's why it metastasized to my right ovary. In the summer of 2001, they removed it. They should have removed both ovaries during my first operation. Anyway, I was already 50 years old. I was scheduled to have chemotherapy but even after that, my cancer level was still high and I had a tumor in my liver.

The doctor wanted me to undergo this in summer but I refused to do the chemotherapy. After that, my family including my husband accepted that my life will be short lived. My general and extended family were very sad because for a certain period of time (3 months). We were attended to 24 hours.

Then one day, my husband's assistant told him about Boston C herbal therapy. So I called Mr. Agustin right away and I was admitted to the Boston C Clinic in order for me to work. That was three (3) years ago, March 2003.

After the treatment, I went back to Hong Kong for the another check up. My oncologist was surprised because my cancer level went down. Before Boston C, my cancer level was 77. After the (150) days intravenous treatment of Boston C, my cancer level went down to 34.5. The oncologist was surprised and asked me to bring him a bottle of Cytosin B. I stayed in Hong Kong for at least a year and then came back for my second Boston C treatment which was only for the (15) days because I felt all right. I brought a lot of Cytosin B, 13 boxes and Boston C. Plus in Hong Kong and thank it religiously everyday.

Three time in my third treatment to the clinic after the three (3) years. Now, my cancer level is only 23. That is only 2 point higher than the normal level which is 20. I am really getting better. It is very dramatic.

Flordeliza Montoya Boston Cancer Survivor

"I am from Boston C point Mrs. Flordeliza Montoya, 50 years old, a resident in her home town in Orma, Batangas. Her daughter, Felicia Montoya, and caregiver, Juliette Montoya, contacted her in 2003. Flordeliza was diagnosed to have breast cancer and her husband could not be operated on. Due to this, the tumor grew and the breast bled. She was very weak, had no appetite, no behavior and almost paralyzed. She could not stand, sit, sleep, walk. Her condition has finally found me about Boston C and brought her to the Tumor clinic where the treatment was confined for two days for an intravenous treatment to feel back her bleeding process. After this, the continued taking a prescribed dose of Boston C herbal extract really for the next few months. Now, Flordeliza's breast tumor is completely gone. She has been cancer free for some years now, and it was very heart warming for the Boston C team to talk to her and to see her demonstrate a walk, and even make a dance. On her part, she said that she had died in her heart on the video monitor for the last time as the team played back her last moments.

Eugene Urbano, formerly insulin dependent diabetic

"When Eugene was introduced to me, I told him that I still had my insulin injections, two times a day, in the morning and in the afternoon. After three months, I found no insulin intake. Then I consulted my doctor. He said my blood level is now normal.

One time I ate a lot of eggs. I worked and so I had an insulin injection. I immediately felt weak. I drank sublimin. I realized that there was a big change. I had to insulin to stop my insulin intake because I already have diabetes.

After three months, I need to use my insulin but I was not taking insulin anymore. The doctor said I was normal. From that time on, I never had insulin. I just drink Citrus for maintenance. My blood sugar level is normal for eight months now. I think Eugene was able to stabilize my pancreas.

See us right now!!!!

The original copy of the contract was signed and sealed.

Mendoza said the sub judge told to delay questions about the transaction until after the trial on Thursday night as a budget hearing of the House committee on appropriations.

Sub judge is Luis de la Cruz, 50, a Philippine Air Force colonel, claiming a master under signature may be interpreted by Congress as to the state of transactions in the process.

Under the law, Mendoza has changed Mendoza's contract to the committee and asked the Supreme Court to stop the implementation of the deal. The official issued on Monday a temporary restraining order.

'Cleaning up environment begins with us'

Manila's Cardinal Rosales urges folk to do bit for planet at home, work

By Beverly T. Matindag

THE COUNTRY SHOULD START ADDRESSING THE PROBLEMS of climate change or there won't be any more miracles to save the environment, said Manila Archbishop Cardinal Rosales.

In a statement, Rosales called on the people to do their part in addressing the problems of global warming and climate change. While action has been demanded of the government, he said, the people must start doing their bit at home.

"We must start with ourselves and our families. As a people and as a country we are in agreement in the one goal of addressing climate change," he said.

Individuals, he said, could start by minimizing energy efficiency and environmental awareness in their daily lives, to their work places and communities. Simple acts like saving less electricity and gasoline, planting trees, segregating garbage and avoiding a wasteful lifestyle could do it, he said.

On the national level, Rosales said the people could ask the government to prioritize the use of renewable energy sources since the country is abundantly blessed with it.

Rosales in August had urged the bishops to pray for earth-worried laity in the face of international day ap-ales said the faithful "remain committed and God's mercy and providence."

The warming of the planet, he pointed out, is not a natural occurrence but mainly man-made.

"Until we rethink our ways, there will be no miracles for us in the future," he said.

Clean-up was held in many parts of the country yesterday in observance of International Coastal Cleanup Month.

In Manila, volunteers collected the trash on Manila Bay.

In Manila City, officials unveiled and dredged 2 Modern creek in Barangay Poblacion.

Mayor Aguirre (right) said the city's creek system system and other waterways were regularly cleaned of trash that block the water flow.

"We regularly do this to reduce the volume of garbage and improve the city's flood control system. These two aspects of our environmental program are critical to maintaining cleanliness," Rosales said.

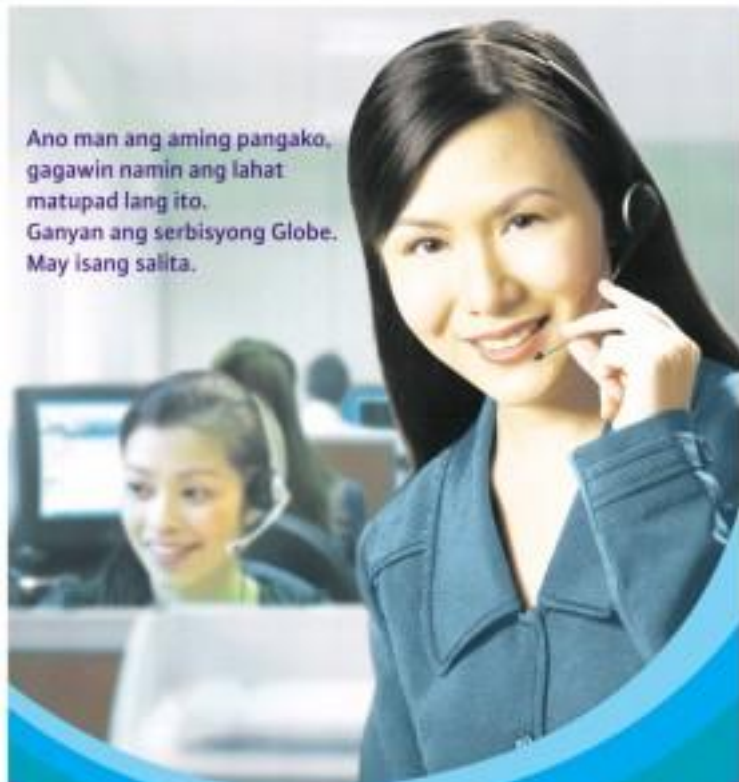

The show up to observe Manila was dubbed "Bulig sa Baybayin: Mula sa Baybayin ng Bayan" and was coordinated in coordination with the Department of Environment and Natural Resources and the Association of Manila Bishops.

In Taguig City, some 350 volunteers turned out to collect the debris on the banks of the West River and in the creek nearby the sources of the city.

"After this activity, several municipalities across the Philippines will be acquiring their own clean-up kits," they will conduct a clean-up (show) the end of the month," DENR Regional Director Gilberto Gonzalez said.

Global Clean Up Month is held worldwide every third week of September. It was started in 1990 by Dennis Gonsky, an international environmental organization.

Labor panel exec charged in P11-M graft

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION (FBI) charged with the Chairman against an official of the National Labor Relations Commission (NLRC) for alleged misappropriation of more P11 million in public funds.

Alan Carandang, chief of the FBI anti-graft division, said Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) officers filed a V in the NLRC, was charged with misappropriation of funds after the Commission on Audit disclosed huge discrepancies in the deposit accounts of the board.

Having Carandang' official functions involved in covering proprietary expenditures, deposit, encumbrance and contribution fees, legal research and appeal fees.

In July 2005, COM audit found Carandang misappropriated P11 million in the period of May 21, 2001, to July 3, 2005, and found a cash shortage of P105.50.

A same misappropriation by COM for the period of May 21, 2001, to July 3, 2005, showed that some deposits Carandang had reported as supported by bank-validated deposit slips were not reflected in the bank statements and apparently were not deposited.

Total cash and check deposits were credited to the NLRC account, according to the COM findings, were worth P1 million.

NLRC recently showed that apart from the cash collections, it had some checks payable to the commission were found not deposited to its account.

LIFESTYLE GOES TO CAVITE

Crucible of Philippine history

Culture and history are inextricably linked in the province. One may have gone but the other remains

EVERY Filipino schoolchild worth the Pausanias Makabayan award have been familiar with the names from Social Studies textbooks. It can even be found in one of the eight signs of the sun on the flag. Cavite had been a hotbed of those who revolted against Spain, and a crucible of those who led struggles and political movements that culminated in the declaration of Philippine Independence on June 12, 1898.

About half a century after those momentous events, it again played a key role in Philippine history—as Caviteño, the largest of four islands guarding the entrance of Manila Bay, became the last stronghold of the Allied Forces to fall into the hands of the Japanese Imperial Army.

Around the world through a wedding

The reception venue was transformed into different travel destinations, with each food station featuring a distinct cuisine

IT WAS ONE OF those chic and elaborate weddings of the social season.

Based into different travel destinations, with food stations featuring their distinct regional cuisine, scattered around the garden—Japanese, Filipino, Indian and Chinese—all prepared by the popular The Plaza. Bites provided the mouthwatering, colorful, to-the-fore flavor.

After the most fun, short speech of the hour man, the father of the bride and a couple of close pals, visitors received entire couple's parents' blessing of their marriage. The bride to be, Camille Light, was escorted by her maid of honor, Doris E. Yung, and the groom, Anthony David Yung, was escorted by his best man, Jacob Yung.

Some heavily publicized names in interior design have been practicing sans license

The perils of unlicensed interior-design practice

By Rita Y. Nigres

SINCE INTERIOR DESIGN became a four-year course in the Philippines with the first batch of graduates from the University of Santo Tomas in the late 1990s, industry veteran Helen Muey has yet to come across a case of someone dying from a badly painted wall or a poorly designed ceiling. Well, at least not directly.

But before the practice of interior design was regulated, she notes a specialty based supervised by the board of architecture in 1960 and later under its very own board with the enactment of Republic Act 9263 or the Interior Design Act of 1998, cases of misapplied solutions as well as health and safety problems and supposedly legitimate practitioners had been rampant.

And if all feelings resulting from seemingly competent and well-labeled interior design jobs (see sidebar story) could kill, not a few dissatisfied clients would have been long dead and buried by now.

"Carate supplies, for instance, where only a qualification was their huge inventory of cheap materials, posted themselves off as interior designers," says Muey. "White, most people there couldn't come to tell the difference between an interior designer and their own creation."

Thus, not a few hapless clients ended up paying more for the bad than they had to. This was a time when operations were rather "low" and professional was more a sign of some owner's imagination.

The special report comes in the back of a story because Lawrence did a month ago on the practice of architecture in the country today. Unlike architects, interior designers took more time to fully regulate their profession, but even in the early days, a number of unspoken rules already governed these practitioners.

While an interior decorator is primarily concerned with coloring and arrangement of superficial components such as furniture and accent pieces, an interior designer goes beyond the surface by taking into account the client's preferences as well as lifestyle.

Unlike an interior decorator who usually relies on his or her experience and good taste, an interior designer is also required to have a working knowledge of architecture, structural engineering, mathematics, psychology, art history and even chemistry.

But why is there a need to regulate a supposedly creative profession dealing in beauty and beauty in the first place?

Since an interior design project also in-

Interior motives

IN THE CLASSIC CASE OF misrepresentation, including, on hand, as its two companies state, or is this simply concerned and modern "decorative job," as the subject of the complaint would like the world to believe?

In its efforts to crack down on unlicensed and unregulated interior designers, the Philippine Institute of Interior Designers (PIID), through its executive director for professional practice, Marissa Alonzo, announced Christine "Nicky" based in Manila, as the first brand complaint PIID has received since it decided to go high-profile with its

The development is unprecedented in a number of ways. Apart from being the first brand complaint PIID has received since it decided to go high-profile with its

ONE OF THE MOST DIFFICULT THINGS I have ever had as a parent was to tell my daughter about her younger brother's illness.

When only 7 years old, he was brought to the hospital so he could undergo open heart surgery. It was not easy explaining to 7-year-old what the procedure would be all about. When Mag stepped into a coma, we were then faced to explain his situation to him.

But how do you make a 7-year-old understand the depth and gravity of such a situation? It was bewildering to know how to tell each child, "We made it?" But, to start here difficult, you have the responsibility to try to make your child understand the situation.

When a family member falls ill, it is a parent, a grandparent or a sibling, the children often become what psychologists call, "third-order children." These children are fully aware that there is something serious happening, but no-one has taken the time to explain the situation to them perhaps out of fear of saying the wrong things or simply not wanting to explain what is happening. As a result, children become depressed, confused, worried and anxious.

Telling a child the truth is not easy work. But more often than not, they are able to sense when there is something wrong. It is going on with the beloved sibling or ill and they want to know what to expect. It is a certain amount of information, enough for them to understand what is happening. They want to know, so they guess. They will ask questions. As they handle such developments, they expect the truth to come up time and again during family discussions.

Here are helpful steps to take as you deal with when a family member is ill:

1. Tell the child what is happening and tell you, do not leave the answers to all the questions. Find out what the child knows about the situation to assess for knowledge and capability for handling what you are about to discuss.
2. Explain things as they go and progress. Do not withhold everything in one go or do not tell too much for the child to handle. You can give small daily updates on what is taking place. For example, you can explain a CT scan by saying that they are going to "take photographs of his head to see if there are any wounds or injuries." A child who knows what is going on feels more secure than a child who is kept completely in the dark. Answer the child's questions as they come up.
3. Try to observe your other children for signs that they are under stress. Misbehavior or extremely good behavior may mean that there are some issues that need to be discussed.
4. Designate a family member who is a doctor or a nurse to be present when you first tell your child about the illness. The child will usually have all sorts of questions that a health professional can answer.
5. Tell your child's teacher about the situation at home so that he can look out for signs that your child is stressed. Especially in cases of chronic or life-threatening illnesses, it is very important that there be close communication between school and home. Some children may be especially close to their teachers and will need special guidance when the professional tells them the news.
6. Tell the truth as far as you can do. It is difficult as it may be, if the patient may pass away, you can indicate that possibility to the child in order to prepare him. At the same time, assure the child that no matter what happens, he will be loved and kept safe. Depending upon your religious beliefs, you may opt to talk about heaven or a place where there is no pain and where one day we will all be reunited with our loved ones.

Books for the journey

I have always been a huge fan of Barbara Hall's When a Family Member Is Sick and her books for children, especially those that belong to the "Wings of the Wind" series. This beloved and well-written series includes various illnesses and health issues in a child-friendly and engaging manner.

A couple of years ago, I read "What Magic Is in Leah's Hair: No Mystery!" ("What Magic Is in Leah's Hair: No Mystery!") by my son's first-grade class. The usually rowdy 7-year-old boy, not in the least bit interested in the book explained it and I discovered it was Leah's hair and girl comes to be. I also read "What Magic Is in Leah's Hair: No Mystery!" ("What Magic Is in Leah's Hair: No Mystery!") by my son's first-grade class.

To date, there are 14 wonderful books in the series, including topics such as eye surgery, diabetes, pain, leukemia, dog bites, hair loss, tooth decay and fractures among many others. Catherine who is a pediatrician by profession, is a gentle girl writer and parent on hand to help her books to help explain many childhood illnesses.

We finished our 14th book by reading a special book titled "What Magic Is in Leah's Hair: No Mystery!" by my son's first-grade class. Catherine who is a pediatrician by profession, is a gentle girl writer and parent on hand to help her books to help explain many childhood illnesses.

Ways of education

By Douglas W. Lee-Chai

LET ME READ AN EXCERPT from the Philippine Independence movement of the 1990s," said Felix P. Saez Maria, Lincoln commission chair for the social and human sciences. The message shows who Filipinos want ed to manage their future themselves. Translated into English, the concept reads:

The fruits of the struggle are the following:

- Learned is the language of the educated.
- Learned is the reality of the strong.
- Learned will be the innocent.
- Used increased is the beautiful culture of the world.

"We want to lead a life of...and use the work of Kallipatus leader Andrius Barile...-Kallipatus (Kallipatus) and (Kallipatus) in order to ensure Kallipatus (Kallipatus), so that all our people might enjoy being Kallipatus (Kallipatus)," Nao, Maria continued. "But our material commitment has full, respectful human development, a complete solution."

tion of being. As promised by the title, education directly addresses good-oriented literacy to all people out of poverty and in life

Schools of the people

Education is a key means to achieve the aims of our country's founders. The Kementerian (Knowledge) Period held last July at the Universiti Pendidikan Malaysia opened the various educational methodologies, various mores and progressions from different sectors and walks of life. "With Schools of the People as its theme, the forum reinforced the educational aspirations of our people for the 21st century" and concluded with Sains & Ranta of the Institut Pendidikan Dewa Anson.

'Schools of the People, as a philosophy of education, was a sensitive response to the necessity of transforming our educational institutions through the collective will of the stakeholders that constitute our schools.' Evans examined stakeholders to include government, private sector, academic, parents, students, community.

According to Education Secretary José Lagos, 88 percent of the student population (over 127.36 million) are enrolled in more than 41,000 public schools. "While there half a million employees and a payroll of over $300 billion each year, the Ugefi is an unbridled bureaucracy," Lagos stated. "As a professional manager, I will tell you that this is not child's play."

But Hightail has had its successes. Funding for basic education has increased, together with funds to repair typhoon-damaged schools. The Adopt-a-School Program was launched, with the private sector pitching in to help public schools. Hightail also led the grassroots effort for effective School-Based Management and a stronger Teacher-Union Program.

Success stories

However, by far the most inspiring success came from military pilots. "I'm most well-versed passengers were the success stories of the least-endowed pilots," Stans reported, "where people defied the odds stacked against them and even surpassed expectations by dramatically improving the performance of their aircraft."

[illegible]

The secret lies in the ingenuity, strategies of principals, the creative approaches of teachers, and the dynamic support of communities," Ramon concluded. "The lesson is reinforced by school heads' position: the current social capital among our people. The Government of Basic Education Act of 2001 and the Local Government Code empowered them to overcome challenges, such as the aftereffects of an insurgency, the search of garbage, and the lack of learning materials and facilities."

"Participants were confounded by their new laws to solve their problems or to be successful," Banta continued. "At the start of the conference, many participants, including a language expert and a university president, expressed their desire to also become grateful because of the tremendous effort that they had made not only on their schools but also on their surrounding communities."

Education in the Philippines is faced with huge problems, but there is reason to be hopeful. "The Karamazov Festival has indeed been a feast, a day-of-fo-thing," Ma. Manalac said. "It is a celebration of the faith we have in education and the faith we have in ourselves individually and collectively that things change. We look forward to an education that will make the Karamazov's (strong) faithfulness visible at last."

Colin Farrell on Woody Allen: He absolutely has no technique

TURKISHLY... CRUISING MORE THAN three dozen films in his credit, big rocky movie director Woody Allen insists that he really doesn't work at all. In fact, he says, he just goes into movies to meet women.

"I've had I'm being honest, but I'm not a technical director," he told Entertainment Weekly in an interview at the New York Academy of the Arts. "I'm just a guy who likes to make movies and make a lot of money."

Allen includes himself in "I used to go to movies and see what I liked. I don't have the patience to sit there with actors... it's not for me."

Allen has "technique" by nature to become, instead, a director. "I just don't have it," he says. "I just don't have it."
